PEST MANAGEMENT SERVICES

The service includes controlling Bed Bugs, Cockroaches, Rat, Lizards, and Birds. Pest Control Professionals meet the standards in training, screening and know-how to tackle or eradicate the Pest issue. These actions are performed both indoors and outdoors, on a schedule set by the examining infestation levels and subsequently approaching with the adequate measures.

Insects and other pests are vital to our ecosystems. However, when they make themselves at home in your home, problems can arise. Rodents and roaches are notorious for spreading infectious diseases. Flies spread harmful bacteria. Spider bites and bee stings can be painful and require medical attention. Under Extermital's watch, you can get back to enjoying time with your family, knowing you're protected from nature's pesky invasions.

We offer pest control services for both residential as well as commercial properties. ”

A pest free, healthy environment is where we all want to live. Our commitment to this ideal starts with great service, quick response times, and impeccable follow through.

Our mission of exceeding customer expectations goes beyond providing the most comprehensive pest control. It means looking to solve problems for the long term with lasting relationships built on ethical, professional, and responsive practices.

ANTI TERMITE TREATMENT

Anti-termite treatment is a chemical process applied to soil, wood, masonry, or any structure to protect against termites. These termites improve the water content, porosity, and soil pH by recycling the dead particles, contributing more to the environment.

At the same time, these termites are harmful to human-made structures like buildings, Underground cables, Untreated timbers, etc. So, to avoid this incoming harm, anti-termite treatment is done.

When it comes to termite damage, prevention is really the most vital step in stopping a termite population from doing damage to your premises, which will be followed by the additional costs of repairs. Done before the building is constructed, a pre-construction anti termite treatment will ultimately prevent the risk of the colony infiltrating your structure.

A trusted professional such as Pan Trading Contracting & Services can help to termite-proof your property during the pre-construction phase. In our projects, we use premium chemicals onto the construction site where a building is constructed. This provides a treated zone within the soil that will allow foraging termites to pick up low doses of the chemical. This will eventually be passed on to the other termites to successfully eradicate the colony.

By engaging Pan Trading Contracting & Services to treat the site where your building will be constructed, you will be taking the extra precaution of preventing a termite infestation and the further costly repairs that comes with it.
